Get ready for a lot of excitement! India's lithium-ion industry is electrifying the nation with a projected CAGR of 17.21 percent and a market value of a whopping USD 5.49 billion by 2028.

This, my friends, is more than just a trend - it's a revolution in the making. From powering electric vehicles to revolutionizing renewable energy storage, lithium-ion batteries are the heart of a cleaner, brighter future.

Who should do what
